JOB WORK

Facilities for Plain and Fancy Job Printing equal to those of any establishment west of the Missouri river

The Denver Times succeeds in maintaining a neutral position in the railroad fight.

After July 1st there will be only $350,000,000 in bonds bearing six per cent interest.

Chief Justice Sanford L. Church, John T. Hoffman, and Augustus Belmont, are trying to bring forward Horatio Seymour again as a candidate for governor in opposition to the Tilden candidate.

Dennis Kearney blackguarded a reputable citizen in a speech at Santa Ana, Cal., a few days ago, and in return received a tremendous threshing. This is the kind of law a blackguard should receive.

Speaking of the record of the democratic party the Milwaukee Sentinel truthfully says, "about every good thing that has happened to this country has been opposed by that party and about every dishonorable and traitorous thing proposed, has been advocated by it."

The Denver and Rio Grande does not like the courts. There is an unfriendly impartiality about sworn facts which repels it. Tribune.

The Tribune states what it knows is untrue. The D. & R. G. Co. has pressed its case before the courts, while the Atchison road has tried for postponement and delay. This is a matter of fact which the Tribune knew when it made the above statement.

The attack on Attorney-General Wright for doing his duty in asking for the writ of quo warranto will not help the Atchison cause. This action in no way hampers or injures the Atchison road. If it has a just commission of the D. & R. G. road, it is simply asked to show it. The fact that it is so much consideration in Santa Fe circles shows the weakness of their cause.

It is always unfortunate in politics for a party or politicians to have too much record. This is the present trouble with the democratic party. While the attempt to bulldoze the president into signing a bill he does not approve of is being made by the democrats it is interesting to read the following sentence from the democratic platform of 1856: "We are decidedly opposed to taking from the president the qualified veto power by which he is enabled to suspend the passage of a bill whose merits cannot secure two-thirds of the senate and house."

The New York Times calls attention to the fact that from 27½ to 46 per cent. of all decisions in the different courts in New York State are overruled by the court of appeals. It shows an amount of error in the courts that must dishearten any man with a just cause at action and delight the unjust side. We should congratulate ourselves that this is not the case in this state. Judge Bowen has already tried over 20 mining cases and his findings have been approved of in every case except one. May the scales of justice be as equally balanced in the present railroad struggle.

The Denver Tribune publishes a dispatch from this city which was sent by "Muldoon" Conant. Speaking of the quo warranto writ, the dispatch says: "The suit is prosecuted on behalf of the state by Attorney General Wright." This matter of fact has created considerable talk and criticism. As the fight between the two companies is a matter of purely private grievance the opinion is generally expressed that the attorney general was wholly unauthorized to pledge the state as a party to the controversy.

Now this is simply a falsehood. If the Tribune wants to learn the real state of public opinion, it should not get its specials from the perpetrator of Colorado's greatest fraud, the Muldoon.

There seems to be some misunderstanding respecting the manner in which Secretary Sherman has placed our bonds. As the banks have three months to pay for their subscriptions it is thought that Secretary Sherman has showed them too much favor. The facts are these: The 4 per cent bonds are sold to replace the 5-20 bonds. When $5 000,000 have been sold, a corresponding amount of six per cent bonds are called in. By law the 5 20s are not to be redeemed for 90 days after the call is made. The money received for the four per cents must then be idle in the treasury vaults for ninety days. This is of no benefit to the government, and therefore Secretary Sherman offered to give those who subscribed for the bonds ninety days to pay for them. This extra inducement, which cost the government nothing, has greatly facilitated the placing of of the bonds, and hence was greatly for the benefit of the government.

ANOTHER DOCUMENT

Both the Tribune and the Chieftain have published the celebrated letter of Thomas Nickerson, president of the Atchison road to S. B. Schlesinger, written February 10. As Mr. Schlesinger, holds the important papers in this contest, he may be considered as impartial. In the letter Mr. Nickerson said, 'I wish only to give a brief history of our transactions with the Denver & Rio Grande while it is fresh in mind, and if I fall into any errors, I will thank you to correct them now.' This drew forth the following letter from Mr. Schlesinger:

February 15, 1879

Thomas Nickerson, Esq., President Atchison, Topeka, and Santa Fe Railroad

DEAR SIR—I have your letter of February 10th with regard to the Atchison and Denver railroad companies and the agreements between them. No one can regret more than I do the present difference between General Palmer and yourself as to this matter. The present agreements, however, were made by himself and yourself personally, and have entirely superseded that signed by Col. Potts and myself in behalf of the Denver and Rio Grande railroad company. Without discussing your letter in detail, and not meaning thereby either to admit or question the correctness of your narrative, but simply passing it by, I wish in justice to General Palmer to say a word on one point.

The lease of the Denver and Rio Grande railroad company conveys only "the railroad heretofore constructed and operated by that company, and describes it. It distinctly promises that 'all rights and privileges other than these' (specified) were expressly reserved and exempted." I understood at the time that this agreement was made, that this reserved and exempted from the lease the rights to make any and all extensions and new railroad including that through the canon, which the Denver company might have, and the language which I have quoted seems to me apt and explicit for this purpose. The agreement fixes the debt of the Denver road at $22,664 per mile, but recognizes an existing debt in excess of this amount to be provided for by that company, and which the exempted rights and franchises for they had no other exempted property furnished the principal, if not the only means to provide for if these franchises were of any value.

I cannot undertake to state what General Palmer said to you in conversation, but I do know that he stated to me, and to his counsel, that he must reserve the rights and franchises enumerated above and gave the reasons (already stated) for this reservation, and I am quite confident that enough on this point was stated in presence of your counsel to indicate General Palmer's purpose in this regard. But without this, and assuming that he said nothing but what is in the lease and which I have quoted these clauses, which he did cause to be inserted, and which he insisted on, seem to me to declare his purpose, to state what he leased and what he kept, with unmistakable clearness.

If I had any thought about it at the time it was that he regarded the franchises he retained as valuable, and you thought them substantially worthless, and it seems to me that while he holds them now with tenacity as he has a right to under the lease as I read it, your views as to their value has been materially modified.

What he is doing in the matter however, is his own action and not mine. The responsibility and the credit are both with him and while I regret the difference I can do nothing in the premises but put before you, as I have endeavored very briefly to do a statement of what seems to me Gen. Palmer's position and rights under the agreement between your respective roads. I shall transmit a copy of this letter to Colonel Potts and request him to express his views, if he has any to give, to you direct.

Yours very truly,

[Signed] SEBASTIAN B. SCHLESINGER.

The same issue of the Tribune which contains Mr. Nickerson's letter contains this statement: "It was supposed that the ratification of the lease would put an end to the litigation between the companies, and the Atchison in good faith, requested the Denver & Rio Grande, after the papers had been signed, to withdraw the suit. The answer was that it would do so if the Atchison road would guarantee the Denver and Rio Grande bonds, principal and interest. This the Atchison road very properly refused to do. The above letter of Mr. Schlesinger is sufficient answer to this. There was no understanding that the Grand Canon suits were to be dismissed but on the contrary every right in the canon was expressly reserved in every agreement. The Tribune and Chieftain should publish in common fairness this letter of Mr. Schlesinger.

The Inter-Ocean Washington correspondent obtained the following interesting opinions of Senator Bayard with regard to Secretary Sherman's financial policy. Coming from a strong political opponent, the praise is significant. He says "he was convinced that Secretary Sherman was managing his funding operations admirably. He had recently had frequent and full conversation with gentlemen who were engaged in money dealing so that they were personally familiar with the secretary's management, who being politically and otherwise unfriendly to Secretary Sherman, and not at all desirous of furthering his ambitions, had expressed the greatest admiration for his wise and prudent administration of the treasury. They had compared particularly his funding operations with those of Secretary Bristow, and without meaning to disparage the one, had stated that the other had done immensely better had made contracts much more advantageous to the government, had carried on the work with much greater economy, and had made a much higher reputation as a financier. Personally, as was well known he had no particular friendship for Secretary Sherman, but his administration of the finances of the government, was worthy of the highest praise.

What [illegible] Alleve [illegible]

[illegible]

A [illegible] has an ingenious plan for keeping [illegible] from beggars, street musicians, [illegible] and other undesirable customers. He puts a policeman inside the door, and when the undesirable customer looks in and meets his fascinated gaze, he closes the door gently and departs holding his breath.

M[illegible] comes to be the victim of an accident, and as they are placing him on a stretcher to carry him up [illegible] he summons the servant and [illegible] honest young peasant and tells her:

"Hurry upstairs and let my wife know about this accident to me, but do not [illegible] her a shock—put on a cheerful face and tell her you are telling her."

The faithful domestic discharges her mission with enthusiasm, and remarks in a husky voice:

"My master sent me—he, he, he—to tell you that—ha, ha, ha, ha—he had—ho, ho, ho—he had (there I've burst my stays laces) he had—it was so funny, and I've laughed till my sides are sore—he had broken his leg. Fo, he [illegible] the carpet in convulsions of laughter."

"Yes, your Honor," says the prisoner, "I admit that I broke into his house to rob it, but I did not intend to add violence to my crime."

"You did not intend, of course, you did not. But if the witness had heard you, had called out 'Who's there?' [illegible]"

"Oh, of course, if he'd begun it I should have had to defend myself, and so would you if any man attacked you while you were peaceably going through his house." (Held in $10,000.)

It was after a concert at which some of Berlioz's pieces had been produced, when a friend met the composer.

"Well, how did they execute your pieces?"

"Like criminals, sir—like criminals."

At Monte Carlo a traveler meets in single combat with the tiger a recently made widower. He can hardly repress an exclamation of surprise.

"I know," says the other, with a sigh, "it looks a little heartless, but I only do it to forget my great sorrow. She was a woman that—well, well, you knew her, and her loss I deeply feel. Never shall I find such another wife. Sir, losing her has cast a gloom over all my life. In fact, if you will but observe it, so anxious am I to show respect to that excellent woman's memory that I play nothing but rouge et noir, and bet on nothing but the black."

When, just ten years ago, Hector Berlioz came back from St. Petersburg, suffering severely from his disease, he went to Nelaton.

The great physician examined him and asked: "Are you anything of a philosopher?"

"Yes," said the patient.

"Then you'd better get all [illegible] tion out of your philosophy that you can—you will never recover."

A Bohemian who is over head in ears in debt sees no way out of it but matrimony, and accordingly betakes himself to a matrimonial agency, and asks if they have any wives in stock with from 20,000 to 100,000 francs.

"I have just your article," says the agent. "Pretty, pretty, amiable."

"That'll [illegible]—never mind the age."

"All right," says the agent; "be so good as to hand me over fifty francs—the fee is payable in advance—and then we will arrange for a first interview."

"Fifty francs!" exclaims the Bohemian with a frightful sneer. "Fifty francs! Blister your stupid soul, sir, do you think that if I had fifty francs I'd be ass enough to go and get married?"

The Count of B. perceives himself that a box of cigars which he has tapped all recently is to the half empty.

Addressing himself then to his domestic with good humor:

"It is truly not reasonable, my brave Baptiste, you smoke too much."

At court:

Eminent counsel: "Yes, gentlemen of the jury, you will—oh, I know you will restore my persecuted client to the arms of his wife and little ones, who—"

The court—"Your client is a bachelor."

E. C. (with reproach)—"Your honor would even deprive my unhappy client of the pure joys of home and the family." (Weeps.)

Two hackmen run into each other at night, and one, whose horse was killed, cites the other before the tribunal.

"When you had run into the complainant's horse and knocked it down and run over it," says the court sternly, "why didn't you stop to see if any damage had been done?"

"Oh," replies the cabby, "I didn't know it was a horse I'd hurt. I thought it was only a man."

—Green Cloth Romance.

The Asiatic gambler is the most reckless; it seems to be his second nature, and he will not scruple to stake his wife, children or, as a last venture, one of his own limbs, his life or liberty, becoming thus the slave of his antagonist. And here I am reminded of a fine point in law once extant among the ancient Hindoos and touching upon this very question. A warrior staking his last farthing on chance, finally put up his liberty, upon losing which he bethought him of his beautiful wife. [illegible] against him, she was summoned before her husband's antagonist, and escaped the life of serfdom by the ingenuousness of her first query: "Did my husband lose me or himself first? [illegible] if he played away himself first he could not stake me." There is a story of a similar case as having occurred in an English-speaking country. It was during the plague in England that a young captain of the king's body-guard pledged the key

Nickerson, the President of the Atchison Road, a Perjurer

The General Manager Should go Home and Study up the Papers.

A Most Interesting and Sharp Discussion of the Questions at Issue by One Who Knows

The Tribune of yesterday contained a long interview with General Strong, which may be considered a fair showing of the Santa Fe s side of the question Thinking it well to publish the other side of the question, we called on General Palmer to get the D & R G version of the fight Calling at the railroad office we immediately asked General Palmer if he had read the Tribune s interview with General Strong

"Yes with a smile

"Is it a true statement of the issues between you?

"No It were hardly possible to compress more mistakes (to use a mild phrase) in so small a space

"How can you account for the errors?

"Mr Strong appears never to have been kept very well advised from Boston of the nature of the agreement They kept him entirely in the dark last December so that, as he acknowledged himself he was placed for a fortnight in a false and very awkward position This was in the controversy about the delivery of the possession in advance of a compliance by the Santa Fe company with an important condition precedent He is evidently still in ignorance of the real merits of the dispute and of what the papers contain '

"General Strong claims that the violations of the lease have been on your part?

"Yes, but he is mistaken The only violation, however, that he claims is that I have persistently refused to call a meeting of the board and fulfill a provision which provides that the Atchison company should elect two thirds of the directors

MANAGER STRONG MAKES A BAD SLIP

"What is your answer?'

"Contrary to his impression the lease contains no reference whatever to any right of the Atchison company to two-thirds, or any other representations, in the board of directors. A letter of mine still in escrow with the lease, and all other papers, agrees that they shall have such representation "as soon as practicable after December 1st, 1879." That was when everything was supposed to be in good faith But as the Santa Fe people almost immediately after getting possession December 13th brought forward copies of that letter and other papers into court to secure the dismissal of the canon suit, and as it was manifest that they would use this representation if granted, not as trustees for the benefit of the property, and of all interested in it as bound to do by law and good morals, just as much as though they were executors of a will for minor heirs but as conspirators, to render worthless most valuable franchises and give them away to a concern in which they held a larger interest, it has not yet been found practicable to act on that letter even were it yet out of escrow which is not the case '

THE BAD FAITH OF THE ATCHISON ROAD

"Has the Atchison company been as faithful as General Strong states?

"No, there is hardly a provision of the lease which they have not broken I made out a list of the violations and sent it to President Nickerson

Will you furnish me a copy of this indictment?

It is rather long to put in this interview I will furnish it hereafter Suffice it to say that the letter and spirit of the expected lease has been violated in almost every important particular It only needs that they encourage a parallel line to be built between Pueblo and Denver with Mahlon D Thatcher and Kidder Peabody & Co 'individually as principal subscribers thereto to finish off the slight remaining vitality it has left. I am surprised they do not do it at once instead of making two bites of a cherry To hold the Rio Grande by the throat with one hand, with violated agreements in escrow while cutting its jugular vein with the other through assistance to its competing lines and pools for depriving it of its business is such a shrewd and clever plan that I wonder they hesitate for a moment to carry it out to its logical completeness If the Washington decision should be in their favor, this indeed is what I expect they will undertake But of course the Rio Grande must stand by and trust to the 'smooth and uniform currents of the law

SO INNOCENT

Speaking of your refusal to show the books to Thatcher he says if the Atchison road has failed to carry out any part of the lease it is because they cannot get records of such contracts? Is this so?

They have been furnished with authenticated copies of all the contracts called for by the lease The plea that they must get hold of the books in order to find out what they are will not pass muster in this unbelieving age Have they been making all these desperate efforts to get the books, by house bill 67 and by the mandamus proceedings before the state supreme court merely from their anxiety to find out their obligations under these contracts in order that they might hasten to comply with them or to find out something that might aid them in the destruction (by dismantling) of the canon and other ... franchises of the Rio Grande company

"General Strong speaks of an arbitration clause in the lease, and says It is first necessary to have any clauses about which there may be a difference of opinion arbitrated and after this is done if there be a violation of the construction reached by arbitration, it will be time to talk about the lease

"Is there any such a clause?

THE GENERAL MANAGER AGAIN SHOWS HIS IGNORANCE

'No Boston evidently has not sent their general manager a copy of the lease, since he makes here another shocking error in regard to its contents, and repeats it twice He should be asked to point out any clause or provision in regard to any arbitration of differences of opinion This is vital, because his whole argument rests upon the existence of such a clause He admits that he construes article 10 as I would any other plain English sentence If the lease is violated the D & R G can resume possession I think it will Mr Strong however seems to have an after thought in regard to his concession that the R G can resume possession if the lease is violated He says after this arbitration it will be time to talk about invalidating the lease When under Heaven is the time for action to come? Is there still to be more talk? Does article 10 mean nothing? that 'plain English sentence which says In such case (of any violation) it shall be lawful for the party of the first part (Rio Grande) at its own option and without notice to the party of the second part (Santa Fe) to enter into and upon the railroad and premises and each and every part thereof and remove all persons therefrom and from thenceforth to have, hold and enjoy the said demised railroad and premises as if the first or former estate of the said party of the first part (Rio Grande) There is no arbitration clause and no provision like it

"How about the claim of Strong that the Atchison road has paid you $150 000 or $8,000 in excess of the appraisement?

"We have only received $75 000 or $67,000 less than Mr Strong s appraisal The other $75 000 is held by a trustee in Boston, one of their own large bond and stock holders, and also interested in the D. & R. G. The Atchison company have been using the supplies and material represented by this unpaid balance of $67,000 for four months.

THOSE FACTS THAT WON T LIE.

'Is it true that the 'splendid management of the Atchison road has raised the value of your stocks and bonds

"In answer to this it is only necessary to state that in September last before the original protocol was agreed to by Lotts and Schlesinger with the Santa Fe company, the Denver and Rio Grande stock was 25 it is now about 14

"General Strong says that your earnings for March, 1879 are $20 000 more than for March 1878?

Thanks for the figures, as they have declined to grant the auditor s office called for by the proposed lease which says that an auditor s office shall be supported by the Atchison road to keep accurate accounts and statistical returns similar to those now (October 19 1878) kept by the Denver and Rio Grande Company So Mr Strong claims that by reason of their efficient and just management the earnings of the Rio Grande were increased from $64 300 in March 1878 to $84 000 in March, 1879 or a gain of thirty one per cent In the same time the March earnings of the Santa Fe line have gained I have no doubt one hundred per cent The South Park line which has only within a month or so had the beneficial stimulation of the control and management in the Santa Fe company s interest has very likely increased over the earnings of March, 1878 five hundred per cent The Kansas Pacific and all other lines in or leading to Colorado have greatly increased their earnings And yet the management has remained the same Colorado is to-day what California was in 49 But a year ago the swarm had not begun Colorado was then about as dead as it had been for years and the Rio Grande company had thirty miles less line than now Let us however see where a genuine comparison will land us The Rio Grande earnings for October 78 (two months before the Santa Fe got possession) were $122 000 for November they were $117-000 and for the first thirteen days of December (a dull month of the year) $42 000 Whereas for January, under the Santa Fe management they were $76,000 for February $71 000 and for March as it seems $84 000 The month of March is every one knows in Colorado has been one of the busiest with our railroads ever yet known and the Rio Grande has had as much to do as it could handle more if Mr Nickerson is right because he alleges great injury from their not feeling free to enlarge the rolling stock of the Rio Grande line which is badly wanted Had the road been in Col Dodge s hands under the old management I am confident the March earnings would have been $150 000 So much for that unavailing plea

"Do you think it very curious as Gen Strong says that you should deny the validity of the lease and yet claim the right to re enter under article 10?

'No, it was understood in this, as in similar cases where possession is given ad interim on a rental pending the completion of the term ... for a term of years ... which ... It was understood that until the papers were delivered all of the conditions should be observed precisely as set forth in the deposited papers There is nothing either inconsistent illogical or uncommon in that that I can see

STRONG AND NICKERSON DON T AGREE

"We notice that General Strong says that the Pueblo & Arkansas Valley company own ten shares more than a majority of the stock Is not this contrary to the Speare affidavit published in the GAZETTE a few days ago?

It is of course difficult to decide where the two highest officers of the same corporation diametrically differ But still as President Nickerson has sworn to his version before the United States Supreme Court January 16 1879 and accompanied it with concurrent testimony from Alden Speare and certified resolutions of directors I suppose as between the two we will have to give him the preference this time This affidavit has already been published I believe by the ... and states that the Denver & Rio Grande road has delivered to a trustee for the benefit and to be under the control of the said Atchison Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad company a majority of all the shares of the stock of the said Denver and Rio Grande Railway company &c

NICKERSON PERJURES HIMSELF

Is this ... of the affidavit in accord with your previous ... with Mr Nickerson?

No it is directly contrary to his agreement with me in his letter of October 19th on the strength of which the lease was made Here is the letter you can judge for yourself The letter says all of the Denver and Rio Grande stock delivered to Mr Speare shall belong to and be held as an asset of the Pueblo and Arkansas Valley railroad company But as this question is of serious consequence to every holder of Denver and Rio Grande stock and as you have executed the contract with Mr Speare and the lease to the Atchison, Topeka, and Santa Fe railroad company with the understanding that all of such Denver and Rio Grande stock as exchanged shall so belong to and be held as an asset of or in trust for the Pueblo and Arkansas Valley railroad

Continuing General Palmer said "I may add that this is one of the breaches of the agreement It was a condition precedent that this stock should not go to the Atchison company but go to and belong to the P & A V Co whose stock to the extent of 8,502 shares we were to receive in return This violation was only discovered when they filed their papers in Washington in the canon case This affidavit of Nickerson s was then discovered It has alarmed our people more than any other violation. Even should the Boston people agree to revoke this action, since its discovery our stockholders ask what guarantee would we have that it would not hereafter be re revoked

"Will this fraud affect the road much

"No It is not of very grave importance whether Nickerson or Strong are right in regard to which company may think it owns the 42,510 shares of Rio Grande stock It is enjoined and I suppose will remain so

THE SOUTH PARK AFFAIR

General Strong says that the contract with the South Park was arranged at your suggestion? Is this true

That is expressed so loosely as to be untrue I hope the interviewer has incorrectly reported the gentleman

I suggested in October and November a contract with the South Park that would if agreeable to its prior owner acquire and prevent its being extended to points where it would compete with the Denver and Rio Grande—and divert it if possible to points where it would not so compete I never suggested any arrangement to help it along to the Arkansas River on the way to San Juan and Leadville That would have been absurd for me to do

"General Strong says the contract was declared off The general impression is that the Atchison road is still secretly aiding the South Park road How is this?

"It is true the contract was 'declared off But the money is being furnished all the same by A T & S. F parties partially under a contract signed by Thos Nickerson and Frank Peabody, (without the words president and vice president of the A, T & S F attached to their names, it is true but the lease forbids this stab from being inflicted indirectly, as well as directly The rest of the money I have reason to believe, is obtained by Nickerson or Peabody turning over to Gov Evans in Boston the subscriptions of individuals which he wrote me he had secured for the whole $700 000 Mr Mahlon D Thatcher appears on the list for $50,000 or $60 000 As he appears to be the manager of the Santa Fe company s affairs in Colorado and has not heretofore been active I believe in contributing to the extension of railroads to benefit Denver, it is natural to infer that there may be something dubious about the individual and private character of the remaining subscriptions also Therefore although the South Park agreement may have been declared off it is certain ... ... because the injury is done and cannot be condoned, since the first $100 000 has been already paid, and the South Park road helped across the Kenosha range

THE GRAND CANON LITIGATION

General Strong says that it was understood that the Grand Canon litigation was to be ... ... What have you to say to this

Strong may have ... that the litigation was to be over when the lease was signed but as he had nothing to do with the negotiation his testimony on that point is not effective The affidavit of Schlesinger and Lotts and of both the attorneys in Boston (among the most respectable in America—Messrs Russell and Lathrop) which the attorneys of the other side have not dared to question by filing their own counter affidavits showed clearly that there was no such understanding but just the contrary At that time Mr Nickerson of course attached no value to our legal rights in the canon He had told me in Boston previously that we had no special rights in the canon The circuit court had decided in his favor and enjoined us and he paid very little attention to the matter at all until the R P decision of the U S supreme court in January then they woke up

How about guaranteeing the D & R G bonds and interest?

There have it is true been all sorts of offers from Santa Fe parties that they (the A T & S F Co) would guarantee our bonds pay a half million dollars and do all sorts of things if we would withdraw the suit But we concluded to hold firm and abide the final issue The inference given by Mr Strong s language that we would have withdrawn the suit if they had agreed to guarantee the bonds is without one particle of foundation This shows again that Boston has not kept their western manager advised, or he could not have obtained that singular idea in face of the precise facts

THE ATCHISON ROAD WILL OBEY

Gen Strong says that as soon as proper authority orders him out of the canon he will obey without delay This appears fair

"Yes I am glad to hear him say so I would take him at his word if it rested with him but the legal and general policy is dictated from Boston We ask nothing more than that when the court orders us out he will obey without delay Let us see if they do, or whether the plain intimations of the organ at Pueblo are true a decision of the case favorably to the Denver and Rio Grande would not by any means leave the workmen and the Santa Fe company in the position of trespassers nor would it necessitate the abandonment of the work which has already been done there

'What do you think of the combination of freight rates which Mr Strong says was made with entire harmony

It is all the worse for the people of Colorado if these absentee landlords have divided up Colorado among themselves in entire harmony If there had been a dissenting voice the local producers and manufacturers and general industries of our state might have breathed freer

Does the statement of Mr Strong that the Atchison road has reduced the fare to Kansas City from $45 to $ ... impress you as a good point

No It would be more satisfactory to the people of Colorado to know how much or little he has increased the local freight rates from Denver and points in Colorado to other points in Colorado In other words how much or little they have done toward helping or hurting the local interchange of products in Colorado

CONCLUSION

We perhaps should ask the pardon of our readers for having devoted so much of our space to this subject But its great importance and the character and representative position of General Palmer must be our apology It should be carefully read and pondered by those who wish to understand this controversy It is in striking contrast to the wild statements of General Strong who is not familiar even with the lease and persistently puts things in it which never were a part of it Every statement of General Palmer is backed by documents which we will fully produce on request Many other points were developed in conversation which we are obliged to omit

The Robert E Lee Mining Suit

An interesting mining case came up before Judge Bowen yesterday Hon H K Wolcott and John B Simpson applied for an injunction restraining Irving Howbert M S Rogers J L Loomis and B F Killin from taking ore from the Robert E Lee mine at Leadville As the defendants had had no opportunity to file an answer a temporary injunction was granted which may or may not be continued after the defendants make answer A more accurate statement of the case can be made after this answer has been made which will be done to day The temporary injunction was granted because it was alleged that large quantities of mineral were being taken daily from the mine Messrs Wolcott and Symes appeared for the plaintiffs and Messrs Marshall and Harris for the defendants
